As shown in Table 1 and Table 3, the WDA facility's potential emissions of NOx and VOC are above 50 tpy, the threshold for NNSR, during the construction phase. While only NOx emissions continue to be above 50 tpy during the operational phase, both NOx and VOC emissions continue to be subject to NNSR permitting since the potential emissions of the WDA facility exceeded the NNSR thresholds for at least one year.

Yes, of course. This is just meant to be an outline to guide the marketing call with the contractor. I'll let Scott know it's still being tweaked.

Hi everyone,

Just a reminder to let me know if you have any comments by COB today.

Thanks,

Eric

Eric,
I've reviewed this and I don't have anything to add, I think you've done a great job capturing what we identified as needs during our call last week.
Thanks, Gwen
